

Weekly Plan for Documentation

1. Week 7: More detailed project plan
In this project plan, more details such as the more updated version of user story and project schedule will be added.
2. Week 8: Finishing project plan and drafting analysis and design report
In this week, we will start to focus on the analysis and design report, which is the whole design of the project. It will only be a draft, including the overview design of this project
3. Week 9: Adding details into analysis and design report, starting bug report
Testing starts here, and we need to set up a testing log, and draft a bug report
4. Week 10: same as week 9
5. Week 11: Trying to finish the analysis and design report, finish the bug report
The analysis and design report should be 10 pages in all, including design of each period.
6. Week 12: Finishing the self-assistant report
In this week, each person in the team should write a one-page report, which includes what he has done in this project. Then I will finish the one-page summary of the entire project.
