

#	Name	Description
US1	Select the dictionary	User can choose one of the two modes to set the dictionary according to which the program will classify the passages into different catalogues.
US2	Input the text files/URLs	If user choose to construct customized dictionary, he/she will need to place the passages found in txt or URLs for needed content into designated folders.
US3	Build up dictionary	User input keyword to start the program and call the critical method to build the dictionary.
US4	Select source files	User can select the files he/she wants to classify. For example, a folder(or .zip file) containing 100 papers
US5	Do classification and get feedback	User can input the category of the files and get feedback of that category or input keywords for viewing a file of designate category. The program will automatically classify all the files input by the user and then store the basic information for each classification like number or name of the files.
US6	*Add new classification	User can add a new classification and define the update the dictionary for it.
US7	*Get Recommendation	The program will note down the history of the user,user can choose to get the categories he/she views very often.